Dana Gieszler Awarded $11,000 Counseling Fellowship From NBCC and Affiliates

Portland, OR—The NBCC Foundation, an affiliate of the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC), recently selected Dana Gieszler, of Banks, Oregon, for the NBCC Minority Fellowship Program-Addictions Counselors (MFP-AC). As an NBCC MFP-AC Fellow, Gieszler will receive funding and training to support her education and facilitate her addictions counseling service to underserved minority transition-age youth (ages 16–25).

The NBCC MFP-AC is made possible by a grant awarded to NBCC by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) in September 2014. The Foundation is contracted by NBCC to administer the NBCC MFP-AC, as well as training and collaboration activities, such as webinars, that are open to all National Certified Counselors (NCCs). The goal of the program is to reduce health disparities and improve behavioral health care outcomes for racially and ethnically diverse populations by increasing the available number of culturally competent behavioral health professionals.

The NBCC MFP will distribute $11,000 to Gieszler and the other master's-level addictions counseling students selected to receive the fellowship award. Gieszler is a graduate of the University of Oregon in Eugene and is currently a master's student in the clinical mental health counseling program at Portland State University in Oregon. Upon graduation, her goal is to serve transition-age youth who are suffering from mental health conditions and/or chemical dependency. Additionally, it is her hope to continue serving low-income, at-risk and minority population adults. She plans on providing bilingual (Spanish and English) counseling when needed. The fellowship will help her to achieve her goals by providing resources to help her further her education in the addictions field. In addition to resources, the NBCC Foundation will also provide the much-needed support and guidance that will enhance and improve the counseling experience of those she serves.

The Foundation plans to open the next NBCC MFP-AC application period in September 2015. To learn more about the NBCC MFP and its fellows, please visit www.nbccf.org.
