Former NFL Player Dwight Hollier Elected Onto the Board of Trustees for NBCC Foundation

Greensboro, NC—Dwight Hollier, of Charlotte, North Carolina, has been elected to the Board of Trustees for the NBCC Foundation. He became the newest member of the board in November 2014 and will attend his first board meeting this week.

Hollier is a licensed professional counselor in North Carolina and a National Certified Counselor (NCC). He is a former National Football League (NFL) player and currently the director of transition and clinical services for the NFL. He works in the Player Engagement department helping past, present and future players to achieve total wellness. Hollier received his master's degree in mental health counseling from Nova Southeastern University in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, and holds a bachelor's degree in psychology and speech communications from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Hollier has extensive experience working with adolescents, families and adults. His prior positions include working as a counselor, psychotherapist, sports psychology consultant, foster care program manager and case management supervisor, and as a coach and school social worker.

About the NBCC Foundation

The NBCC Foundation is the philanthropic affiliate of the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC), based in Greensboro, North Carolina. NBCC is the nation's premier professional certification board devoted to credentialing counselors who meet standards for the general and specialty practices of professional counseling. Currently, there are more than 55,000 National Certified Counselors (NCCs) in the United States and more than 50 countries. The Foundation's mission is to leverage the power of counseling by strategically focusing resources for positive change.
