Jenna Lee Dickerson Awarded $11,000 Counseling Fellowship From NBCC and Affiliates

Williamsburg, VA—The NBCC Foundation, an affiliate of the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC), recently selected Jenna Lee Dickerson, of Williamsburg, Virginia, for the NBCC Minority Fellowship Program-Addictions Counselors (MFP-AC). As an NBCC MFP-AC Fellow, Dickerson will receive funding and training to support her education and facilitate her addictions counseling service to underserved minority transition-age youth (ages 16–25).

The NBCC MFP-AC is made possible by a grant awarded to NBCC by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) in September 2014. The Foundation is contracted by NBCC to administer the NBCC MFP-AC, as well as training and collaboration activities, such as webinars, that are open to all National Certified Counselors (NCCs). The goal of the program is to reduce health disparities and improve behavioral health care outcomes for racially and ethnically diverse populations by increasing the available number of culturally competent behavioral health professionals.

The NBCC MFP will distribute up to $11,000 to Dickerson and the 33 other master's-level addictions counseling students selected to receive the fellowship award. Dickerson is a graduate of the University of Virginia, in Charlottesville, and is both a student and graduate of The College of William & Mary, in Williamsburg, Virginia, where she is currently pursuing a master's in clinical mental health and addictions counseling. After graduating, Dickerson plans to work with transition-age minority youth, particularly adolescents, surrounding substance use. This is such a critical age and Dickerson hopes to help these youth develop more positive coping strategies.

The NBCC Foundation has also awarded 23 $20,000 doctoral fellowships through the Minority Fellowship Program and 30 $8,000 master's-level fellowships through the MFP-Youth (MFP-Y). The Foundation plans to open the next NBCC MFP-AC application period in fall 2018. To learn more about the NBCC MFP and its fellows, please visit <http://www.nbccf.org/Programs/Fellows>.
